What is Dlike?

Dlike is a decentralized application (dApp) built on steem blockchain which rewards its users (STEEM upvotes + DLIKE Tokens) for sharing informative links like news, crypto, health, food, lifestyle, technology, finance, sports or any informative article that you like online or what you write on your personal blogs.

Dlike is built after the idea of top social media sites (Reddit + Pinterest) with an additional feature of rewarding the contributors for their time and efforts.

Reward system of DLIKE works on a unique algorithm of "Proof of Likes".

Why on Steem Blockchain?

Dlike is a social dApp which involves sharing of informative links among the community members. All the content (links) shared by contributors is served through blockchain.

STEEM being a cost effective blockchain modal ensures this sharing of content almost for free and in real time, while on any other blockchain like Ethereum or Tron, gas cost is so high that we can not even think of saving one line of content on blockchain for free and this is the main reason of gambling and games like dApps being developed on those blockchains as compared to a real use case dApps like DLIKE.

What we have achieved till now?

The idea of Dlike was started in March 2018. First part of the DLIKE platform was built as a web version in May 2018. Till now we have been able to develop a solid community of 1300+ active users who share on DLIKE regularly. As a result of this achievement, we are getting 30k+ daily page views on DLIKE.

Right now we are 35th on the list of top dApps among all blockchains including Ethereum, EOS, STEEM and TRON.

What we want to achieve?

In an effort to become top dApp among all blockchains, DLIKE has a clear plan which we were unable to implant due to lack of funds. Here are few of the main goals which we want to achieve as these tasks are definite route to be among top dApp.

1. We want to complete our platform (IOS + Android app + browser extensions).
2. We need an extensive marketing to reach non-blockchain based users as our target is bloggers who can share their informative articles with community and earn rewards.
3. We need SP(STEEM power) to ensure stable rewards for our users.
4. We want to list our token on one of the top exchange against STEEM pair so all our community can get direct benefits of the ecosystem we are developing.

How much we need?

Our targets are very clear so as is our requirement. We are looking for 5M to get going right now. Our main hurdle to success is lack of SP (steem power). We want to add 5-6 Million SP into DLIKE which will cost around 3M as of today's STEEM price.

In long run, our needs are 15-20M as we grow into mainstream project.

Who we are looking for?

We are looking for investors who can fund the project.

We are also looking to build a solid team which should have experience of working with blockchain and social media projects especially the marketing experts, advisors and strategic business consultants.

What are the gains?

Like any other blockchain based project, we are offering investors to become partners by having stake in the project.

All the team members, who will join on specialized posts, will be paid in the form of native tokens DLIKE until the project achieves financial stability.

Why you should invest?

Every project has a start and only visionary persons can analyze the scope of project.
We are offering you the opportunity to invest in most promising dApp on blockchain which will be the top dApp in coming days. Another thing is the scope of project as its build after the idea of most successful social media sites (Reddit and Pinterest) both of which are valued at billions of dollars.

Our project only needs a team of experts and investors who can foresee the future and make timely decisions. Economically speaking, Dlike has limited token supply and its just matter of time as we go into top exchange to materialize the real value of the project. I (Abdul, Founder) personally invite you to invest in a real user base project which has bright future ahead and surely will be the best investment you will make!
